Review/Discussion/Action – Review of Request for Proposal with Auth Consulting & Associates: Mr. Ron Jasperson was asked the following questions:

1. Is this a firm price or is there room for negotiation? The rates are negotiable. The rates quoted in the RFP are 2020 rates and they would be willing to reduce the rates by 3% for the first year if a 5-year plan is approved. The rates are time and material based on the location of each corner. He indicated that if they are over budget or the estimated amount in the RFP, they would notify the Board. They bill what they have into the project and provide an itemized statement.

2. How do you handle a township that has brass caps placed by Davy Engineering? They look at the evidence notes and may accept these monuments if they found to be accurate. They would then create new tie sheets for the corners.

3. How do you intend to complete the project? We would commit to three days per week with dedicated staff. This is the only project they would have scheduled. We would complete the work in the same way that the current surveyor and according to the conditions stated in the RFP.

4. What is your position on state and federal lands that are located in water? These corners may serve as crucial points to establish other corners and should be addressed in each town.

5. Can the project be extended for more than 5 years? Yes, but the contract and prices may need to be renegotiated.
6. Is there any other options for completing this project? I would need to discuss any other arrangements with the owner of the company.
